C. Research Methodology

The Research Methodology section describes in detail how the study was conducted. A complete description of the methods used enables the reader to evaluate the appropriateness of the research methodology.

1. Participants / Subject / Population and Sample

State the Participants/Subject/Population and Sample used in the study.

2. Instruments

Describe what, how, to whom the instruments used in the study.

3. Data Analysis

Describe how the data was analyzed in the study.

D. Result

In the Findings section, summarize the collected data and the analysis performed on those data relevant to the issue that is to follow. The Findings should be clear and concise. It should be written objectively and factually, and without expressing personal opinion. It includes numbers, tables, and figures (e.g., charts and graphs). Number tables and figures consecutively in accordance with their appearance in the text.

E. Discussion

This section should explore the significance of the results of the study. A combined Findings and Discussion section is also appropriate. This section allows you to offer your interpretation and explain the meaning of your results. Emphasize any theoretical or practical consequences of the results.

The Discussion section should be a reasoned and justifiable commentary on the importance of your findings. This section states why the problem is important; what larger issues and what propositions are confirmed or disconfirmed by the extrapolation of these findings to such overarching issues.

F. Conclusion

The main conclusions of the study should be presented in a short Conclusions section. Do not repeat earlier sections.
